

Global Health Services Ltd and JGW International Sign Memorandum of Understanding to Strengthen Transatlantic Healthcare Innovation

London, UK and Reston, VA – January 16th, 2025 – Global Health Services Ltd (GHS) and JGW International. (JGW) have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to forge a strategic partnership aimed at expanding their presence and impact within the UK and US healthcare markets.

This collaboration establishes an Anglo-American "medtech bridge," uniting the expertise and resources of both organisations to drive healthcare innovation across borders. JGW will leverage its deep knowledge of the US healthcare ecosystem to support GHS in introducing its clinical service frameworks to American providers and patients. The partnership will also focus on identifying cutting-edge US medtech solutions for adaptation and adoption within the UK healthcare system. Furthermore, the collaboration will assist US medtech companies in navigating the UK market, providing investment pathways and launch support to further enhance GHS's offerings.

"This partnership with JGW International represents a pivotal milestone in our mission to deliver innovation, integration, and impact on a global scale," said Claire Richardson, CEO of Global Health Services Ltd. "As we prepare to launch our innovative clinical weight loss service in the UK this year, built around evidence-based care and embedding research and innovation from the outset, we see this collaboration as an opportunity to extend our approach to healthcare to the US market. By uniting our expertise with JGW's unparalleled knowledge of the US healthcare landscape, we aim to set a new standard in patient-centred care and create pathways for global collaboration that will benefit both systems and patients."

Jerry Leurs, President of JGW Group, echoed these sentiments: "We are proud to collaborate with GHS to bring their exceptional clinical service models to the US market. Our shared commitment to advancing patient-centred care and fostering innovation will undoubtedly yield significant benefits for both organisations and the communities we serve."

This agreement underscores GHS's proactive approach to global growth and its dedication to bridging the gap between healthcare systems through innovation, integration, and impact. Both companies will now work together to finalise the terms of a definitive agreement, marking the beginning of a new era of cross-border collaboration in healthcare.
